ROUND THE SHOPS

This is an authorised reproduction of the style worn by Ann Harding in Gallant Lady starting at the Alhambra Theatre to-morrow.

ANN HARDING'S GREAT THRILL THE VAGARIES OF FASHION

Her Screen Wardrobe
For Gallant Lady

Good Style

"It's one of the greatest thrills of my life," says Ann Harding. "It is her screen wardrobe for her latest starring picture, 'Gallant Lady,' produced by 20th Century Pictures for United Artists release.

"I'm discovering things I never knew till now about the supreme importance of clothes — and talents I never knew I had about selecting them.

"You see, more than any other picture of my career, 'Gallant Lady' gives me the opportunity to appear as a fashion plate which has always been one of my repressed desires!

"Twenty of the costumes I wear were especially designed for me by Gwen Wakeling, 20th Century's fashion creator. You see, we both felt that while 'Sally Wyndham,' the character I play in this picture, should be smartly striking, her clothes should permit her to step from the screen into the drawing room of any polite home without being bizarre or out of place.

"So from tabbed fashion advice from France, England and Italy, Miss Wakeling designed these creations which I consider really stunning, embodying as they do the outstanding trends which will govern the styles for the coming season.

"One of the gowns which especially appeals to me is a dinner gown of electric blue-train velvet with gracefully draped collar trimmed with two rows of baum markers. The sleeves are full at the top, but fitted tightly from the elbow down, giving a distinct grace to arm movements.

"Another is a frock of black velvet — and there is nothing more flattering — with armholes outlined by broad bands of ermine. Three little bows made of the ermine tails conceal the front closing, and the dress shows the smart high neckline which is so popular this season.

"For formal wear I like metallic satin. Miss Wakeling designed one dress for me that was developed in this delightful shimmering fabric. The back is very décolleté. The wide bands which go over the shoulders ending in a sort of modified bustle just below the waist line.

"Another thing that I believe women will find interesting from a fashion viewpoint is the travel wardrobe which I have the opportunity to wear on the trip of Europe which 'Sally' takes in the picture.

"In these sequences the outfit that I liked best was one developed in a weird combining of a warm gray with marine blue for contrast. The plastron front was carried out over the shoulders to give the popular wing effect, and the ensemble was completed with a military cape in blue with a smart beret-type hat to match.

"If 'Gallant Lady' doesn't make us all 'clothes conscious' — then we might as well go back to the farm."

"Gallant Lady" is a presentation of Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck, and comes to the Alhambra Theatre to-morrow.

EUNICE

Eunice, in the Peninsula Arcade, is showing refreshing sports wear for summer — white pique ensembles with coatees and neck scarfs of the new brightly-coloured crepe de chine and morocaine — gay hues that make the heart as gay as a cool summer day!

A devastatingly attractive selection of new English volles came to Eunice by the last P. & O. Many of the designs are so unique that we shall undoubtedly see them on the market next year when Japan has adopted them.

"Eunice" also carries a range of inexpensive stockings that "last." The early Spring collection is now ready for general showing and the many attractive and really inexpensive day and evening models and the saucy new millinery make a visit an education if nothing else.

But a warning! Make up your mind to buy only two dresses or two hats. If you are like me — a mere woman — you won't be content until you've come away with half the shop and husbands have an annoying way of making more than two new things at a time difficult to explain.

MAIZEES

Here is your chance to buy something cheap, and not only cheap but really good. Maizees is having a one day Sale of this season's goods, there are some beautiful gowns being sold at give away prices and everyone looking for smart clothes should take this opportunity and get something really good by going to Maizee's sale.

MISS RIVELLE

Miss Rivelle has a few specially smart models in evening wear in the new silk velvet and these gowns are really gorgeous. One outstanding was of white with coatees to match, and the lines of this gown were perfect. All her goods are very reasonably priced and she also takes orders. Miss Rivelle is expecting another consignment of summer dresses from the States.

LANE CRAWFORDS

Lane Crawford's are still having their sale of American Dresses and these dresses are the latest from New York.

The cocktail dresses were very smart with the new square neck effect and most of these are priced at $25.00.

Some very pretty evening dresses are seen with the new puff sleeves of white organza with gold thread trimming. Then there are afternoon dresses of all styles and made of lovely washing silks. Prices in this line range from $15.00.

MISS NAYLOR

As usual Miss Naylor has just unpacked a big consignment of beautiful day and evening dresses, and I must say the few that I saw were extremely smart. I might mention that she is expecting from now on a fortnightly supply of gowns, so it pays to call on her regularly.

Miss Naylor has in stock some very nice afternoon dresses of washing silks and the Maclefield ones were especially noticeable.

There were some evening gowns of crepe silk with the new wide puff sleeves of organza, this material is absolutely the latest, and is used quite frequently for trimming.

MAYOS

Mayos are always creating new styles, and if you saw their windows you would agree, with me. Just pick out your special style and Mayo's would only be too glad to make it for you, and please remember they make to order for children as well. They have some very pretty Swiss Straws in, and this straw makes up beautifully.

Amongst their many lines they have received some Summer dresses in prints and plain materials from America. All this dresses are very reasonably priced.

In any hurry to fly from her becoming proportions to try out fantastic models which interfere with her style or the life she leads.

Our best dressers have style. It is an English quality as outstanding, though not always as useful, as that intangible asset known as Chic. The French chic and the American cuteness have much the same effect, and they are very helpful to women from an economic point of view, as chic gives a new charm to an old garment.

Style may not accomplish this, but it enables an Englishwoman, newly turned out, to hold her own, and be noticeable in any gathering. Now that they are learning the value of adding their own individual touches, they have increased the prestige of English dressing throughout the world.

Paris Fashions

London, March 8. Jean Patou has a collection of dresses, and ensembles which include tailored coats and skirts, afternoon dresses with and without coats, evening dresses, and wraps. For the morning he cuts perfectly simple skirts with pleats or a flare and gives no unusual line to the coat except at the neck, which may be without any collar and have a pinch behind to form a fin flap of about two to three inches at its widest. This peculiarity is common to all coats, and to some bodies, throughout the collection.

The waist-line at Patou's is neat and close fitting, with some small drapery at the back, such as fin-shaped flaps, short sashes tied to a bow with ends. The hips are invariably slender in line. The neck-line is decorative, with irregularly shaped collars, hoods, and, in front, revers. White pique is much used to trim simple dresses. Belts are drawn tight without pinching the waist. Short sleeves are usual. Bright blue and navy blue, almond green, tango red, violet, and quite a lot of black are used in this collection. Soft, supple materials are the fashion for the afternoon; stiff satin, faille, and velvet for the evening.

Maggy Rouff puts turbulent ruchings to frame the head and face, cutting the bodice for afternoon to a wide square in front and bringing high the ruching on the shoulders and at the back of the head. The fashion is that of the reign of Henry VIII. Another style peculiar to Maggy Rouff is that of wearing with morning dresses a cape made with sleeves into which the arms are not slipped. The impression is that of the cardigan, or coat, hung on the shoulders with empty sleeves. In all the ensembles Maggy Rouff makes for the afternoon there is a marked femininity. She uses crisp silks and drapes the waist carelessly. Her jackets pucker in the back, her bodies and sleeves have that untailored look which has the charm of a day that is past. She also makes figured crepe dresses in lovely colours and patterns which she puts under long black, brown, grey, or blue coats, all of which have the high, loosely ruffled collar and open throat. The evening dresses are in the same styles, made with skirts which are full at the back and which flow at the hem. They have slender bodices and very full high, puffed sleeves, square-cut neck lines, and tight waists. While waiting for spring, Frenchwomen are wearing tallormades and furs. Coats have fox-trimmed sleeves; capes of fox are worn back to front, sideways, any way but straight. Fox skins with head and tail complete are wound about the shoulders, but not round the throat. Fox is the fashionable fur, and it is likely to be so during the summer, since it is being put on afternoon coat sleeves, and capes are made with it for the evening.

London Fashion Notes

Fashion Hints

1. Trimmings that take off
2. Blouses with attached scarves to come outside the coat in pique.
3. Wide revers
4. An impression of much metal about the fastenings
5. Wooden monograms high at the neck of a dark blouse

Spring Fashion Secrets

In the matter of colours, pastel shades are to predominate this Spring. No violent colours will be seen. A lovely shade of duck egg blue will be the colour of the season. Dusty pinks and blues will be popular, with "porridge" and "Quince" a yellowish copper for day wear. As to materials, chifon is to be popular, plain and printed in a bold design. Floral printed crepes and satins will also be popular. Embroidered organdies will appear later on, and a curious fabric for evening dresses called "skin". This is a flesh coloured silk embroidered in black and pink. Light weight fabrics for late Spring include "Peau de peche" which has moss effect, "Rami" which appears in plaid, strip corded, and checked designs. The blouse revival is very noticeable. One milliner is making tiny chifon hats with accompanying blouses to be worn with tweeds. Three-quarter coats will be seen a great deal, and straight skirts are worn just a trifle longer than last season. Swim suits will be very scanty. They concentrate on the "uplift" movement with corseted brassiere tops. Evening lines show little change. The line is long and the fit is close, with tunic effects featured for wearers who take kindly to them. The points enumerated below may be helpful.

Lengths

These will not be violently altered

Waist-Line

The smarter blouses will be worn over and not under the skirt which indicates a longer waist. The inside more tailored type of shirts are worn with either a corset skirt, or fitted into a lower belt.

Sleeves

These are no longer exaggerated nor are shoulders over-squared cuffs can be very decorative.

Belts and Buttons

These come in to renovate, and indicate changes of line. Glass, steel, paste or, indeed, any sort of fancy button may be used.

Coats

Can be of innumerable lengths and still be fashionable. Plenty of the long and short three-quarter lengths and the sleek little hip-coats have gone on the cruises. The short reefer model is revived for country tailored suits.

Gloves

Continue to be fairly decorative, and for the next two or three months gauntlets can still be worn in kid, wool or embroidery stitchery. White is returning to fashion, so are paler shades. The quieter styles are best.

Hosiery

For ordinary wear this should not be too light. The linen and brown-beige are correct for day, and the fancy patterned hosiery are worn with country low heeled shoes.

Shoes

The new shoes are adorned with ribbing and punching. Two tones of leather such as suede and kid will be a popular vogue.

Handbags

The new bags are interesting, of soft antelope and thick fabric they are fluted, frilled, ribbed, and pleated to follow the tendencies of the dresses.

Norman Hartnell's collection stressed delicacy of colouring with simplicity of cut. For afternoon he uses two frocks to go with one coat. Usually one of the dresses is plain, in the colour of the coat, the other printed. An exotic frame for the woman of super elegance was an evening cape bordered with black and white fox and a sable bordered flame coloured evening coat.

Matita shows some smart linen suits. Straight, little jackets, queer cockleshell hats which have to be kept on with hatpins and have as trimming a string, are another new note.

Tennis Fashions

Slit-skirted tennis dresses, and linen shorts worn with backless blouses in gay willow-patterned materials, are new for the summer. Divided skirts for tennis and golf have become an accepted fact.

Evening Wear

Some evening dresses show an Edwardian clear shoulder line; other's keep to last season's high neck when the material is filmy. The evening high neckline, however, is in the minority; others are square or pointed or show a dropped shoulder, or are allied with slashed long sleeves. Tulle is often the foundation of frocks, and whether it is seen or not its swish is heard. Flower prints on crepe de Chine and organdies have superseded geometric designs.

Short "box" coats are shown with some morning suits, and there are many boleros, finger-tip coats, and three quarter modified swagger coats. The colour to which the Queen gave the name "Sandringham Blue" is a duck egg blue.

When Poise Means More Than Shape

A Survey Of The New Models In Caps, Bonnets, And Hats

Correct poising of hats is important; this season. It always is, but especially in March when the winds blow.

Elastic is with us again for the slanting sailor and toreador, and the silken cord for the decorative and perilously balanced across-the-back style of millinery, but I doubt either surviving a real north-easter, especially if the wearer tried to retain that abrupt but smart side-slant.

The ideal headgear for a high wind is a cap that really fits the head, and there are many new caps in shantung and straw, also in fabric, felt, and feather. Some show the slight side-bandeau, with a flower or winged mount to correspond with the button-hole in a tailored coat. The cap to complete the spring suit should prove a blessing in a high wind, providing it is not poised too much on the slant. The latter movement may be charming and easy for the cinema and ultra-smart wear, but not for practical wear.

The simple cap for immediate outdoor wear that will appeal to all this month, is composed of fine honey-combed felt or fabric that matches a scarf and hand-bag of the same. The placing of this form of cap must rest with the individual. To be practical it should fit and grip, whereas to be chic it should be set at a side angle.

Some English girls have taken a fancy to the bonnet set right on the back of the coiffure, with an added halo of flowers, ribbon bows, or cut-out feather decoration placed in the front and resting on the hair. Unless features are good this is a difficult form of hat poise. It is best suited to youth, and yet youth is generally too sophisticated to wear it well.

Bonnets of Dutch trend can look very well, especially on those whom width happens to suit, and when worn straight with the wide side pieces added. For bridesmaids I have seen some attractive Dutch bonnets in pale blue with ears of tiny pink marguerites, edged with green leaves made of shining crystal. Bonquets were to match, worn with exquisite long-skirted frocks of white tulle.

Another phase of the Dutch bonnet, I admire is in a Quaker-over the eye in—Gainsborough style, but perfect fitting of the head must now take the place of piles of supporting curls and pads.

There is still a certain coyness dominating the picture vogue—there was sense in the way the old masters shaded the eyes! All their fair sitters were not necessarily very young; they realised too the subtlety of partly concealed charms! The curves of the concealing-brim presented further allure.

Watteau-Like shapes represent another phase of poising. This shape must tilt right forward, coquettishly straight over the eyes, and raised to attain the push-back-to-front by the high back-bandeau of feather tips, flowers, or ribbon.

The present-day coiffure is admirably suited to the Watteau revival, just as it is to the return of the feathered bandeau. Perhaps the smartest modern adaptation of our Dresden Shepherdess is smaller. In fact, it would seem a compromise between a small sailor, and the plate-shape.

A few curls may be seen, or else the entire back of the head concealed by the ribbon loops, flowers, or feathers. Some women even give the Watteau a new tilt sideways—as well as forwards—but all adjustment must be a matter for individual taste.

WET SHOES

When shoes or boots have become very wet, they are sometimes damaged by being dried too quickly. The best way to treat them is to pack them with balls of crumpled newspaper, and let them dry slowly, in an airy place, away from any direct heat. If the paper is made thoroughly dry and warm by the fire or in the oven before it is used, it will absorb moisture more quickly. It should be well packed in, to keep the shoes in good shape. Muddy shoes should be washed clean before they are dried. Wet mud may be quickly and easily removed with a cloth or brush dipped in clean water. If it is allowed to dry and harden on the shoes, it may have to be scraped off, and the leather may be scratched and damaged.

The Bride of 1934 wears the new square neckline gown with tiny puff sleeves, and poses her tiny cap well aslant over her curls, as shown by Jean Parker, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player.

grey plect-staw, with wings of real point-de-Venise.

The Salvation Army bonnet is shown in certain early collections. Quite interesting was a black pedal-lined pink, only I think it was not helped by an inner wreath of pink roses and a wide wing of black horsehair flying back.

All agree on the renewed charms attached to the new method of working the ostrich-feather. The tiny ostrich fronds or the deeper fringes are used in variety, though never in the overwhelming ways of last century. The fit of the small or large plateau-shapes, that so graciously receives the newest feathery decorations is suggestive of eighteenth-century charm.

Possibly the many lovely examples of old favourites smiling from the walls of Burlington House have given fresh inspiration to the milliners.

We tilt our diminished brims

DECK TENNIS AT HOME

The woman living in small provincial town or in the depths of the country, where there are few facilities for games, is often at a loss to know what she can play to keep her fit and agile. Tennis, or deck tennis, is an excellent solution of her problem.

Deck tennis arouses great enthusiasm on board ship, so why should it be overlooked when unaccompanied by the roll of the ocean? It is excellent for the health and figure and costs comparatively nothing.

In quite a small garden, or even a yard, a court is easily marked out. A net and poles can be bought for a few shillings, or two long sticks and a length of string with a strip of calico on it, can be improvised. The quilt is made of rope and costs about 1s.; the rules of the game can be had for 6d.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE

Beautiful Scenes And Beautiful Girls

"Footlight Parade" showing now at the Queen's and the Alhambra Theatres, is a film that should not be missed, as it is about the best musical show ever screened here. Snappy Girls and wonderful sequences and the outstanding number, "By a Waterfall" is a spectacular one. Marvellous costumes are worn and the song hits are very catchy. Cast in the role as a famous comedy director is Paucens Cagney, others supporting the cast are Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbe and Ruth Donnelly.

Eddie Cantor In Whoopee

Whoopee another United Artists' picture commences its run at the Lee Theatre to-day, is one of those shows which give the public its money's worth, in almost any direction you want to think of.

Hilarious comedy from such experts as Eddie Cantor the star and Ethel Shutta, tuneful songs of every variety beautiful girls galore only Ziegfeld can pick them, an affecting love-story and a general air of satisfying lavishness make it a picture in a million.

Samuel Goldwyn has here shown that the talking colour screen can out do the stage whenever it wants to take the trouble.

Whoopee is a rich treat a sort of which is seldom seen. The supporting cast with Eddie Cantor are Beautiful Eleanor Hunt, the heroine and hundreds of beautiful girls gathered from Hollywood and Broadway.

Following Whoopee, the Lee Theatre will be showing, Chinese War Pictures.

MR. WALTER ELLIOT TO WED

Much interest is being shown in the forthcoming wedding of Mr. Walter Elliot, the Minister of Agriculture, and Miss Katherine Tennant, which is to take place at North Berwick on April 2.

It was originally intended that Dr. Charles L. Warr, Dean of the Theistic, St. Giles's Cathedral, Edinburgh, the Very Rev. Sir George Adam Smith, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Aberdeen University, and the Rev. S. J. Marriott, rector of St. Baldred's, should officiate at the wedding, but it appears doubtful if Sir George Adam Smith will be able to attend.

Miss Tennant's wedding gown will be of cream satin. Her veil (Continued on Previous Column)

"ESKIMO"
How The Film Was Made

The most adventurous of all film expeditions to the Arctic was undertaken by a company from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios headed by Col. W. S. Van Dyke, to record in photography and sound that great epic of the North, "Eskimo".
The picture, which will have its first local showing on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre, presents a stirring and engrossing panorama of the life with its dangers and hardships of the natives living in the icy regions.
A few statistics on the preparations and accomplishments of the trip made to film this remarkable picture are enough to stagger the imagination. The journey covered more than 13,000 miles from Hollywood to Point Barrow and return. The company boarded the whaling schooner "Nanuk" at Nome, proceeded to Point Barrow, northernmost point inhabited by man where the boat was frozen in for the winter, and later returned with the breaking up of the ice in the spring.
They carried more than thirty-five members in the company, not including guides and Eskimos picked up at Point Barrow. Dog sleds were used for land work and living quarters were in the ship or ashore in igloo camps.
They took with them some fifty tons of food, sleds, dog harnesses, furs, medical stores and trade goods for paying off the Eskimos. Captain Peter Freuchen, author of the book, also served as guide and technical expert with Col. Van Dyke directing, Edward Hearn

EYELASHES FOR A FEW SHILLINGS

In the brave new world of fashion for 1934 small, grey eyes are being made to look like large, limpid blue beauties and a pair of colourless eyes, sparsely fringed with lashes, are made-up to appear interesting and luxuriantly lashed.

Only a very sophisticated admirer could detect the artificial from the natural lashes, and man will be more than ever baffled in deciding the colour of the eyes he most admires.

The only quality in your eyes which cosmetics or the beauty experts do not attempt to flatter is the light that shines within, or the expression of yourself. This important attribute to beauty is derived from character and emotions and is entirely one's own responsibility.

You have a wide choice of pale pastes to deepen the colour in every shade of eye, and newer lash paints (water and harmless), which are highly imaginative and effective. They are used to bring out a hidden colour-lure, especially in eyes of an uncertain, chameleon-like colour.

The new lashes are now sold in the shops, and since they are so natural and easy to adjust, we can, for a few shillings, all satisfy that innate desire for dark curly lashes.

They are packed in small boxes with tweezers and the invisible adhesive for applying them, and have been proved to stand firm after hot or cold bathing.

But after giving make-up all the credit it deserves, we come to the subject of being kind to the eyes and giving them respectful care. Just now they are in need of attention, after the strain of fog, working and reading in artificial light, and the general handicaps of weather conditions.

I hope there are no modern women too vain to wear spectacles when they are needed, for this release from strain will help to prolong their form and colour.

With age and overwork the eyes grow smaller, lose their lustre, and wrinkles follow quickly upon optical troubles.

Normal eyes should be washed twice a day with a warm solution made from an eye-wash of boracic in an eye-bath of warm water. Every fortnight use one of the herbal eye-packs which are applied hot, and are often made with rose petals and eyebright. A cold rinse must follow to prevent chills, and it is safer not to go out-of-doors immediately afterwards.

While you are using face creams for home treatment, concentrate some light massage around the eyes. It is done with the cushions of the first two fingers, using an anti-wrinkle oil or cream which is made definitely for the eye muscles and tissues.

Begin this massage just beneath the inside ends of the eyebrows where there is a very influential nerve ending. Work across the brow to the temples, and then lightly press along the delicate lids under the eyes. Make the pressing manipulative, not forceful. Circulation is the most important factor in the healthy appearance of the eyes and the skin.

The herbal packs should follow this massage, and in the beauty shops where a study has been made of soothing and strengthening treatments for the eyes, a wonderful tonic is also given. Although the eyes are thickly covered with healing herbs, penetrates the handages, creating a golden mist before the closed eyes.

It is a method recommended by doctors and opticians. Send people with weak and tired eyes for this type of beauty cure. Both pupils and lids can be improved and kept youthful with a series of simple exercises. These are part of a curriculum with some specialists.

The Attorney General moved the first reading of a Bill to amend further the Railways Ordinance, 1909. He said: This Bill will strengthen the hands of the administrator of the railway in dealing with goods found on trains without apparent owners or which have been placed there without proper authority.

The Colonial Secretary seconded and the bill was read a first time.

Signals

The Attorney General moved the first reading of a Bill to amend the Merchant Shipping Ordinance, 1899. He said: As stated in the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons this Bill changes the local police call signals so that they shall not be confused with other signals laid down in the International Code.

The Colonial Secretary seconded and the bill was read a first time.

ALIENS REGISTRATION BILL

The Attorney General moved the second reading of a Bill for the Registration of certain persons. He said: Sections 2 and 3 of this Bill impose an obligation on non-Chinese aliens to register at Police Headquarters and, if required, to furnish certain particulars regarding themselves which are set out in the Schedule. They are also required to report their arrivals, departures and changes of residential or business address. This obligation will not apply, however, in the case of Foreign Consular officers, or their families, or in the case of persons residing whether as passengers or crew on board ships or in case of children.

A power is given to the Inspector General of Police to exempt any person from this obligation.

I intend to propose certain amendments in sub-section (3) of clause 2 in committee. The intention of the sub-section is to put the burden of proof of British nationality upon the person claiming the same only when such nationality is doubted. As it stands at present it would appear to impose that burden even where British nationality is undoubted.

Clause 4 of the Bill requires keepers of hotels, boarding houses and lodging houses and the secretaries of clubs to keep proper registers of non-Chinese persons staying in such establishments.

Clause 5 imposes a duty on the masters, owners and agents of ships to furnish lists of passengers arriving and departing.

The Bill will not be brought into force until a date has been fixed by Proclamation of the Governor.

As explained in the memorandum of Objects and Reasons, the Bill is to a very considerable extent a re-enactment of existing legislation which has not been enforced in recent years but which is now considered necessary.

The Colonial Secretary seconded. After the amendment indicated by the Attorney General had been made, the bill passed through its final stages.

Other bills which passed through their final stages were as follows:

A bill to amend the Commissioners Powers Ordinance, 1933.

A bill to amend the Merchandise Marks Ordinance, 1899.

The Council adjourned until April 4.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the Finance Committee which followed, items totalling $20,057 in respect of 1933 and $11,900 in respect of the current year were approved. Particulars of these items had previously been published in the Daily Press.

THE KWANGTUNG FORCES

To Be Under Control Of Central Govt.

Nanking, March 22.

Measures for placing the Kwangtung land, naval and air forces under the direct jurisdiction of the Central Government are reported to have been formulated by General Chen Chi-tang, Commander-in-Chief of the Southern Route Bandit-Suppression Forces for the provinces of Kiangsi, Kwangtung, Fukien, Hunan and Hupien.

Yang Te-chao, personal representative of General Chen will shortly proceed to Nanchang to confer with General Chiang Kai-shek, President of the Military Affairs Commission, regarding these new measures.

General Chen Chi-tang's proposal will involve the abolition of the Headquarters of the Commander-in-Chief of the 1st Group Army. The Commander-in-Chief's Headquarters will be the highest military organ. The 2nd Kwangtung Army will be abolished while the 1st and 3rd Kwangtung Armies will be enlarged. There will be two route armies, to be headed respectively by General Li Yang-ching and Yu Han-mou and placed under the direction of the Commander-in-Chief's Headquarters of the Southern Route Forces.

THREE CRUISERS

The "Division" will be the unit for the Kwangtung troops. The Kwangtung Provincial Forces will be reorganized into 12 Divisions composed of 78 regiments and two battalions. Of these, 8 divisions (six for Kiangsi and two for Fukien) will participate in the bandit-suppression campaign while the other four divisions will maintain peace and order in the rear.

The Kwangtung air forces will be placed under the direct jurisdiction of the Central Government Aviation Administration. The three large cruisers, Haichi, Haishen and Chaohou, will be transferred back to Nanking to be commissioned in the Central naval squadron. At the same time, the Central Government will be petitioned to restore the Headquarters of the 4th Naval Squadron.—Kuo Min.

MOTOR CYCLE MISHAP

Three Chinese Sent To Hospital

Three Chinese were seriously injured when a motor cycle combination on which they were passengers collided with a bus on the Castle Peak Road on Wednesday.

The accident occurred at a spot above the Ten Mile Beach where Mrs. Evans, the wife of Major Guyan Evans, of 3 King's Park Buildings, has a bathing shed. Attracted by the crash, she ran to the spot and found the three men, who had been flung clear of their machine, lying on the ground.

Assisted by others who were with her, Mrs. Evans had the men moved into her car, afterwards driving with them to the Kowloon Hospital where their injuries, which seemed to be of a more or less serious character, were attended to.

SWATOW NOTES

From Our Own Correspondent.

Swatow, March 26.

We are having glorious weather just now and will prove ideal for the Easter holidays. It appears we are going to have an early summer this year, and already some people have discarded their winter attire in preference to white garments.

Commencing on the 8th April, under the auspices of the Swatow Athletic Association, various sports will be held in the Sun Yat Sen Park and are open to all. There will be interschool games of all kinds, the most interesting items being basketball, soccer and tennis. Another item of immense interest is the marathon race, for which many aspirants are in training. A thousand pitfalls that bicycle racing has yet to be taken up in Swatow, but this does not signify that cycling is a novelty for the younger blood.

The Land Tax Bureau has issued forms to be filled in by landowners and lessors in order that the tax to be paid. A specified time limit is given for the particulars to be sent in, after which date the delinquents will be fined.

The Executive Offices of the Public Safety Bureau have been removed to rented premises in Ko Ping St. The present building was formerly (30 years ago) a fort. The rooms are small and dirty and far from fulfilling the requirements of a modern police headquarters. Many campaigns have in recent years been made to raise funds to build a proper establishment, but it seems that the realization is far on the horizon.

The Peace Preservation Corps and the Fire Brigade are still housed in the old place.

The authorities have not relaxed their vigilance towards communists. Only two or three days back one was arrested. He openly confessed the truth and was shot afterwards.

HELENA MAY CONCERT

Excellent Programme

An excellent programme arranged by Mrs. R. Sanger was presented by some of the Colony's best talents at Helena May Institute yesterday and it proved a fitting finale to a successful concert season.

Mrs. Sanger herself was responsible for three songs. Her rendition of "The Year at the Spring" (Mrs. H. H. A. Beach) in particular appealed to the audience, judging by the rounds of applause which greeted this number. Mrs. Sanger was in her usual good voice in her two other numbers "Floods of Spring" (Rachmaninoff) and "The Swan" (Greig).

Miss Nura Kanis opened the concert with two piano solos "Troika" (Tschalkovsky) and a bracket from the works of Chopin. She also had the honour of bringing the programme to a close, for which purpose she chose "Lotus Land" (C. Scott) and "Perpetua Mobile" (Weber). Good as Miss Kanis was in her opening numbers, she excelled herself in her two last items. All four pieces called for technique of a high order, but Miss Kanis was more than equal to the occasion. She gracefully acquiesced to the request for an encore.

Mrs. Helen Lockhart delighted with three songs, "Willow Song" (Sullivan), "Go from my Window" (Somerset) and "Ecstasy" (Rumel).

Undoubtedly one of the best numbers on the programme was "The Elmer Wasserlille" (Edward Greig) sung by Mrs. O. Womack. This song was given by special request. Mrs. Womack also rendered "Soft Footed Snow" (Slegwid Lie) and "I'll Rock you to Rest" (Villiers Standford).

Those who heard Captain Owen Joyce last evening will undoubtedly look forward to his appearances at future concerts. Captain Joyce was especially good in "Harp of Tara," an old Irish air, and his two other numbers, English folk songs, put the audience in good mood.

Mr. E. Schrotter presented three violin solos, "Waltz in D" and also in C (both Brahms) were melodious, but Mr. Schrotter's rendering of "Old Refrain" (Kreisler), perhaps, appealed more to the audience.

Mrs. Bowes-Smith, Frau Ammann, Mr. A. W. Lorens and Mr. Frederick Mason, A.R.C.O., L.R.C.L., accompanied at the piano and contributed a good share to the success of the evening.

The programme was relayed by Z.B.W.

to refloat the vessel previously, without success. It is reported that the vessel is still at Pratas with two other Russian vessels. The ship is of about 6,000 tons capacity.

LOCAL ENGINEERS AND SHIPBUILDERSMR. S.T. WILLIAMSON ELECTED
PRESIDENTFarewell Presentation
To Mr. J. Tully

Mr. John Tully, the President of the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders who is leaving the Colony on retirement on April 7 was the recipient of a silver plate presented by members of the Institution at its annual general meeting held last evening.

Mr. P. T. Farrell was in the chair, and apart from the loss of $1,420, he reported a satisfactory year generally. Mr. S. T. Williamson was elected President for the ensuing year, and Mr. W. S. Bailey who has been connected with the Institution for the past 42 years was elected an honorary member.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

In his report for the year, Mr. Farrell, the Chairman, said:—

It is with regret that the Committee report the loss by death of the following members:—Mr. E. J. Burt, Mr. P. Howarth, Mr. Geo. Grimble, Mr. A. Sinclair, Capt. J. G. Smith and A. M. Simpson.

I would therefore ask you to stand up as a mark of respect.

The year's working shows a loss of $1,419.56 which your Committee consider satisfactory under present depressing conditions.

Our total investment with Hong Kong Government loan is $32,000.00. The Institution, I am pleased to-day is in a sound financial position. It is gratifying to note that the Membership shows a considerable increase.

The premises have been thoroughly renovated at a cost of $2,413.47 and should not require further expenditure in this line for a few years.

This absorbed our reserve for redecoration of $1,000.00 and necessitated a further $1,413.47 being charged to reserve account. Turning to the Library there has been a considerable increase in

REBATE ON WATER
CHARGES

A communique issued by the Colonial Secretariat yesterday states:—

In connection with the recent petition from certain Residents and Landlords in the Colony regarding the charges for excess water, the Government has decided that as a temporary measure of relief a rebate of 10 per cent. shall be granted on all new bills for excess water issued on or after April 1, 1934.

The circulation of books for the year, 14,916 were borrowed, making an increase of 1,130 over the previous year and an average of 1,243 per month. Our hearty thanks are due to our efficient Librarian Mr. H. R. Latham, for the success of the Library.

Literary Council

During the year a paper was read by Mr. G. H. Gandy, R.N. (Retired) entitled "Surveying." A paper on "Roads" was prepared by Mr. A. E. Lissaman, P.W.D. and several other papers promised. The General Committee were of the opinion that owing to the comparatively poor attendances at the reading of Technical papers, and the heavy cost of preparing, printing etc. that no further activities of the Literary Council were advisable this session.

Billiards

Excellent progress has been maintained in the playing of the following Handicaps. President, Vice-President's Osborn challenge Trophy, Thornycroft Cup and Library competition. The Committee tender their grateful thanks to donors of prizes.

Billiard teams from Club Lusitano and Craigengower Cricket Club were invited to a match and supper, also return match with Club Lusitano when good games were witnessed and enjoyable social evenings spent.

Entertainments

During the year three dances were held in the rooms of the Institution and two smokers were given to departing members Mr. W. Russell and Mr. G. F. Taylor. The thanks of the Committee are due to Mr. Latham and Mr. Mitford for their untiring efforts in making the above a success also to those who kindly assisted in decorations etc.

Mr. John Tully, our retiring President, leaves Hongkong for home on April 7 on retirement. We regret to lose such an old and faithful member but wish him and family long life and happiness in the homeland.

I will now propose and ask a member to second the adoption of the accounts in respect of the year ended 31st December 1933. After which I shall be glad to answer to the best of my ability, any questions you may wish to ask.

The report was seconded by Mr. Tully and passed unanimously.

Election of Officers

In proposing Mr. S. T. Williamson as president for the ensuing year, Mr. Tully said: I have great pleasure in proposing Mr. Williamson. He is an old member and he is very strong on the engineering side and I feel sure that he will use every effort to carry on the work of the Institution and also on an even better financial footing than it is now.

Mr. T. M. Mitchell seconded and Mr. Williamson was elected unanimously.

Vice Presidents: Messrs. E. Cock and J. M. Jack.

Hon. Librarian: Mr. H. R. Latham.

Hon. Secretary: Mr. A. L. Landsberg.

Hon. Treasurer: Mr. A. J. J. Martin.

At this stage the Chairman proposed that Mr. W. S. Bailey be elected an honorary member. He said Mr. Bailey has been connected with the Institution for the past 42 years, having been a member since 1892. This was carried unanimously.

Messrs. Lowe Bingham and Matthews were re-elected auditors. Management Committee: Messrs. H. R. Latham, E. Mitford, C. Bond, S. Howard, A. L. Landsberg, J. C. Saunders, T. M. Mitchell, J. Harrigan, B. D. Evans, E. R. Middleton, G. P. Murphy and J. C. L. Wong.

Presentation to Mr. Tully

Mr. John Tully was then presented with a silver plate engraved with all the names of the subscribers, and suitably inscribed as follows:

Presented to John Tully, Esq. (President 1933) Upon his retirement from the Colony

by The Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders, Hongkong, March, 1934.

In making the presentation, Mr. Williamson said:

On behalf of the Members of our Institution I have very much pleasure in presenting this token of our sincere appreciation to Mr. Tully on his departure on retirement to the Home Land.

You will realise what a bulwark Mr. Tully has been in connection with all affairs pertaining to this Institution, and I am sure that I can say on your behalf that our best wishes go with Mr. and Mrs. Tully, and we sincerely trust that they will have a long and happy retirement in England.

Mr. Tully joined the Institution as long ago as 1894 and was taken an active part on various Committees as from 1912—he has already informed me how much he appreciates this gift and has assured me how greatly treasured it will be by his wife and himself.

Mr. Tully our best wishes go with you. (Applause). Mr. Tully suitably replied.

SPORTS AND POLITICS

From time immemorial, the field
of sport had always been regarded as the best "common meeting
ground," where peoples of all nations can meet and engage in games without letting the question
of race interfere with their enjoyment. The people of the west, it must be said, respected this unwritten law much more than did their brothers of the East, and although some of the latter have long since adapted themselves to the law, there are those who, urged on by a false sense
of patriotism, do not quite follow
this law very strictly.

At the present moment one of the greatest sporting events in the Far East, the Olympic Games, is threatened with a deadlock because of this and it is the earnest wish of all true sportsmen that the people concerned will conquer
this selfishness, bury the hatchet
as it were, and "get on with the game."

It needs no recalling that China
has objected to take part in the games, to be held shortly in the Philippines, just because "Man-choukuo" are in it. No amount of telegrams, letters and negotiations
seemed to be able to put things
right, and last week the officials of the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation sent a cable, at the request of Dr. Yamamoto to the China Amateur Athletic Federation, asking them to agree to an open confab in Shanghai, in consequence of the controversy
which has resulted between China and Japan over Man-choukuo. They received a "yes"
and "no" answer. The reply was very curt and to the point. China will sit in at a parley with Japan
and the Philippines and will talk about everything on the Far Eastern Meet, but finally refuses to enter into any discussion which shows the least colour of Manchoukuo. This means that China will absolutely withdraw from the Far Eastern Meet
and quit the Far Eastern Sports Association, thus disrupting the entire association and imperiling not only the Olympic games but also the vast monies
that already have been expended by the various nations. Which proves that the Japanese are not the only people that can walk out of an important party and leave doubt and open mouths in the wake. China objects to Manchoukuo for purely political reasons.

In granting Manchoukuo entry in the Far Eastern Meet, it would be an open declaration on her part
that she recognizes Manchou-
kuo as a separate entity—
which of course is contrary
to her arguments all these months.
Furthermore, China claims that many of the athletes which are now in Manchoukuo which would be sent to Manila, have participated in games in China, under Chinese jurisdiction and that these athletes have always been Chinese and not Manchoukuans.

It may be also interesting to learn at this point of the controversy that the delegate from Man-choukuo, now in Manila with Dr.
Yamamoto, is a Japanese, born in Japan and educated in Manchoukuo schools. Still he is a Manchoukuoan and a delegate from Man-choukuo here in the interests of his new state which was created by Japan.

Also that among the athletes
which Manchoukuo plans to send to the Far Eastern Games are several Russian title holders who have "become citizens of the new empire, so now we have Russians
and Manchoukuans along with the Japanese.

The delegate to Shanghai from the Philippines will do well to just sit in and listen and not press the matter of allowing Manchoukuo to enter. This is a matter between China and Japan and should be settled only by them. It is good sportsmanship that the Philippines
as a host should send a delegate to China and Japan should be content with that regarding further efforts as coming from the Philippines.

TO SEE OURSELVES Successful Comedy at Peak Club

There was a full house at the Peak Club for the first performance of the Three-act Comedy by E. M. Delafield last Wednesday night, and much credit is due to Madame de Precourt for her excellent production. Anyone who has ever acted at the Peak Club
knows only too well what difficulties must be overcome in order to create an atmosphere of realism
on that small stage, but Madame de Precourt managed to prevail over them and gave an extremely successful performance.

The play deals with the suffocating
effect which an average homeowner can have on a romantically-minded wife, and it
paints the picture of domesticity
in England in such drab colours
that it is enough to strike terror
into the souls of those about to go
"on leave."

The dialogue is very witty and amusing, and packed with clever quips, such as the platitudes
that "A happy marriage has no
history" which is immediately twisted (by a straight-thinking
young woman) into the statement
that it is far more likely that "a happy history has no marriage."

which roused a storm of mirth
from an audience which was quite exceptionally "quick in the uptake" and must have been a joy
to the players.

Margery Griffin ran away with the honours of the evening by playing the part of an older sister with a wistful charm and dignity that was most appealing. She had a way of uttering her clever lines with an air of unconsciousness that was immensely pleasing
and her voice carries splendidly,
even to the back of the hall. Reflected glory this for the Lincolnshire Regiment.

It is not easy to play a big part
with all the responsibility of production on one's shoulders, and we could not help feeling that Diana de Precourt did not do full justice to herself on the first night. She gave a thoughtful and restrained
performance as the young girl,
but had she chosen to infuse her
more vitality into the part it would have strengthened the play,
by showing the contrast between the two sisters. But she is very lovely to look at, and more
some fascinating frocks with stage
grace, and displayed polished stagecraft throughout.

Joan Mollison as the clumsy
maid did her very best to appear gawky and awkward, and we appreciated her gallant effort, even while we refused to believe it.

John Koe gave a promising performance as the young lover, always a difficult role for the average Englishman, (and we now have Miss Delafield's word for it that EVERY Englishman in an AVERAGE Englishman...)

Harry Harbord as the exasperat-ing husband had a great many
"good lines" and thoroughly enjoyed delivering them.

It is a great pity that the Peak Club is difficult to reach, and
but nothing can be done about it.
You CAN hear in the front seats
and you CANNOT hear in the back seats, and that is that!

So all the more credit to Madame de Precourt for her delicious and successful production of
"TO SEE OURSELVES."

N.B.—We are offering an M.C.
with four bars to any Hong Kong husband who is brave
enough to read his newspaper
in an armchair by the fire—
after seeing this play.

Colony's Adverse Visible Trade Balance

REDUCE OUR CONSUMPTION OF IMPORTED GOODS

A close examination of that most informative Government publication "Hongkong Trade and Shipping Returns 1933" (Morosha & Co.) will repay the trouble taken, for it contains some very interesting statistics.

For example it shows that last year the Colony's consumption
(i.e. excess of imports over exports)
of foodstuffs and consumables
alone amounted to over $30,000,000,
made up as follows:

Live animals	$11,091,568
Foodstuffs and pro- visions	13,324,073
Nuts and seeds	1,965,544
Tobacco	1,354,189
Intoxicating Liquor	2,835,513
	$30,570,887

Our total adverse visible balance (exclusive of treasure) amounted to close on $100,000,000.

It would seem superficially that we are living on capital resources to an alarming extent, but of course, this is not the case, as in normal times we have very large invisible exports, among which may be mentioned Banking and Commercial Service to China, the expenditure from Home of large sums expended on the Military and Naval establishments, remittances from abroad for Educational and Religious Institutions, our services
in the way of Shipping, Wharves
and Docks, and remittances from Overseas Chinese to relatives in the Colony, Tourists, etc., etc. Also large investments of a permanent nature are made in the Colony by Chinese in China and from Overseas.

Moreover, a consideration of the figures for a single year can be misleading as large stocks of imported goods are carried in the Colony for re-export subsequently, while it is fairly well-known that some exports may escape being recorded. Similarly, it is obvious that a very large quantity of treasure which appears as exports are merely re-exports and must have been unrecorded as imports.

In addition large sums of money
have been remitted in the past
for safe deposit in the Colony,
but such sums are in the nature
of capital movements and are best left out of a discussion of Trade Balances as they are what is known as "bad money" and are liable at any time to be taken out of the Colony.

High Tariff Walls

But one has every reason to assume, judging from the steady growth of the Colony, that in the past we have been able comfortably to more than balance our adverse visible trade by invisible exports.

In these days, however, when the volume of Trade handled by the Colony has shrunk so enormously, and the high Chinese Tariff Wall acts as a barrier to the many small industries which could otherwise flourish in Hongkong, it is becoming an increasingly difficult matter for the Colony as a whole to earn enough to pay out annually such an enormous sum
as $30,000,000 for imported foodstuffs alone. And whatever doubt there may be as to the absolute
accuracy of the Returns as a whole,
are consumed in the Colony itself and we must certainly assume that the estimated sum of $30,000, 000 is a minimum and any omission from records must be only to increase the actual figure of such goods consumed.

It is therefore important for the Colony to endeavour to reduce its adverse visible Trade balance as much as possible, and the only way, if we cannot find markets
willing to accept an increased quantity of goods manufactured
by us for export, is to reduce our consumption of imported goods.

Foodstuffs appear to be the one category in which we have scope
for marked improvement.

In spite of the fact that the soil
of the New Territories is not too fertile, as Government doing all
it can and should to aid our Farmers to increase their output?

A more detailed analysis of our imports of foodstuffs reveals the amazing fact that in Pigs alone
the Colony consumes no less than $7,600,000 annually, and it would seem that the question of the intensive raising of Pigs in New Territories offers one promising field for Government investigation. The subject of Pigs is one which readily lends itself to factiousness, but I must refrain from the temptation to be facetious, and to ask your readers to consider how great an effect this industry
could have on the economic life
of the Colony, which a few figures will help to show. In fact, most of what follows could apply,
though in smaller measure, to poultry, vegetables or any other farm produce.

The average Chinese farmer
with wife and small family, living
in his own hut and on his own plot of land, could probably exist

on say $100.—per annum. A sum of $7,600,000 annually, (the amount of money spent outside the Colony
for Pigs) would therefore support 76,000 families, or assuming only
2 children to the family, about 300,000 people. Without requiring an expert knowledge of Economics,
it is easy to see that this sum of $7,600,000.—would make itself felt very beneficially in every sphere
of the Colony's activities.

The farmers would spend their money in the Colony and we should expect to find this expenditure reflected in increased earnings by hotels and restaurants,
theatres and cinemas, buses and trams, ferries and the Railway,
even the small industries in the Colony, would benefit as well as Electricity Supply Companies, etc.
etc., all leading to an increase in the rateable value of property and finally to a large increase in the Revenue Returns.

Instead of the unemployment
and starvation now facing thousands of the Colony's population
there would be work found for a still larger population, which would also tend to be a more settled
one in place of the migratory population which the Colony's last census has so strikingly revealed.

In order to simplify my argument, however, I have made no allowance for the cost of imported foodstuffs for the pigs. Some such allowance may have to be made. But until there is data available as to whether most of this coarse food may not be grown
in the New Territories themselves,
it is difficult to arrive at any reliable estimate. For, while most of the scanty soil of New Territories may not repay cultivation of crops for human consumption, it is possible that the same poor soil
could be put to good use for the production of the coarser food for pigs.

And against the argument that an imported pig would perhaps be cheaper than a locally raised one must be set the fact that the local farmer has the advantage of proximity to the market, thereby effecting a saving in transport, besides being able, if a selling organization is developed by him, of cutting out the many middlemen's profits, which are a charge on the imported article.

Two Suggestions.

Is there then any really insuperable obstacle which renders it impossible to raise Pigs more extensively in the Colony? That they can be and are being raised
is obvious to everyone who visits
Kowloon or the New Territories.
Perhaps a discussion in your paper
might help to focus attention on a matter of considerable importance, especially at a time when even goods manufactured here are not too welcome in portions of the British Empire. Ottawa Treaties
notwithstanding, and when Hongkong is being pressed hard between the upper and the nether
mill stones of Tariffs.

In conclusion may I venture to put forward two suggestions—
(1) That the time has now
come when Government should engage a fully qualified expert in agriculture and the breeding of live stock, one of whose chief duties
should be to conduct an experimental farm, and to help to educate the farmers by precept and practice.

(2) That one of our very capable Treasury officials be entrusted with the responsibility of surveying the economic activities of the Colony with a view to devising means to effect a reduction in the adverse visible balance. He might with advantage act as the Chairman of a commission composed largely of members of the business community, supported by representatives of farmers and local manufacturers.—F.A.J.

TO REMAIN ON GOLD

Decision By Swiss
Council

Berne, March 29.

Following the appointment of
M. Philippe Etter, to succeed M.
J. Musy as Minister of Finance for Switzerland, the Federal Council has decided that the Budget must be balanced, and will therefore not allow any expenditure which is not covered.

They will forswear all manipulations of currency and maintain the gold standard.—Reuter.

M. Musy resigned last Thursday, because of the refusal of the Federal Council to accept the programme of financial and economic reforms which were claimed to be necessary to keep the Swiss franc on the gold standard.

SUDDEN STRENGTHENING OF STERLING

RESULTS IN HEAVY FRENCH PURCHASES

First Serious Opposition To Roosevelt

London, Mar. 29. The pre-holiday quietness on the Exchange Market was rudely disturbed by the sudden strengthening of sterling in terms of the franc and the dollar.

Nervousness regarding political developments in France over the week-end resulted in heavy French buying of sterling.

Although the dollar is internationally weaker, the Paris-New York rate has only fallen two cent-times. The weakness is the result of Congressional over-riding of President Roosevelt's veto on the Independent Offices Bill, which some quarters believe to be due to apprehensions of the coming elections and fears that Congress members may indulge in inflationary schemes in order to catch votes.

It is pointed out that the measure is the first serious blow to President Roosevelt and it is most doubtful how he will react as the Bill may upset the Budget to a degree impossible to estimate.

On the other hand, gold reserves amount to seven billion dollars and Federal Reserve is keeping one dollar gold certificates for every three loans, to member banks who are allowed to lend ten dollars for every one borrowed from Federal Reserve, hence it is possible to credit the expansion of seven billion gold which equals about 210 billion dollars.—Reuter.

DISARMAMENT

Meeting To Be Convened Soon

London, March 28. Mr. Arthur Henderson, chairman of the Disarmament Conference called on the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, who was accompanied by Anthony Eden at the House of Commons this afternoon, and discussed the question connected with the next meeting of the Bureau or steering committee of the general commission of the Conference.

It will be recalled that the Bureau was instructed to prepare a clean draft of the British Draft Convention, incorporating modifications contained in documents which have since been exchanged between the various Governments. These documents include the recent British memorandum.

At its last meeting in London in February, the Bureau adjourned until April 10th at latest, and he understood that a meeting is now being summoned to take place on that date.—British Wireless.

"CATHERINE THE GREAT"

Film Banned In Germany

London, March 28. Answering a parliamentary question with reference to the banning in Germany of the British film "Catherine the Great" after it had passed censor, Sir John Simon said the Federation of British Industries, acting on behalf of the producers of the film, are engaged in correspondence with competent German authorities with a view to reconsideration of the ban. He also had called the attention of the German Embassy to the case and expressed the hope that the correspondence in progress might lead to satisfactory settlement. British Wireless.

SENATE CREDIT SCHEME

New Bill Modifies Jones Plan

Washington, March 28. The Banking Committee of the Senate to-day decided to discard the plan to create intermediate credit banks as proposed by Mr. Jesse Jones, chairman of the R.F.C.

The Senate Committee has substituted a new Bill under which the Federal Reserve Banks are empowered to make direct loans to industry from the Federal Reserve Banks' surplus funds for a period not exceeding five years.

GLASS INTERVENTION. The new Bill was offered by Senator Glass, who proposes that in addition the Federal Reserve Banks shall be authorized to make loans through private banks if the latter bear twenty per cent. of the risk.

The Federal Reserve Banks would be allowed to lend up to six times their surplus. Thus more than $800,000,000 will be available for loans, according to Senator Glass.—Reuter.

ROOSEVELT

OVER-RULED

Senate Vote Against Veto

Washington, March 28. The United States Senate by 67 votes to 23, yesterday over-ruled President Roosevelt's veto on the Independent Offices Bill.

The Bill thus becomes law over the President's head.

The result of the division was greeted by loud cheering. The division followed an hour of impassioned and bitter debate.

One of the most outstanding speeches was made by Senator Carter Glass, who declared, with tears in his eyes, that he had two sons "over there."

"I would disinherit them if they ever accepted a dollar from the Government although they were in the front line trenches," he said.

Thirty-three Republicans, Democrats and one Farmer Labour member voted against the veto.

The minority consisted solely of Democrats.—Reuter.

NATIONAL CONFIDENCE SHAKEN. Washington, March 28. Overriding the veto is a direct blow to President Roosevelt himself, declares the "New York Times" to-day. The immediate effect is to leave him grievously wounded in the House, which has been his friend.

The "Herald Tribune" declares that the subsidies which he poured out have laid him open to defeat, but the fact remains that President Roosevelt is right.

His overthrow on this question cannot do other than profoundly shake national confidence in the Government, the journal states.

The highway code is a code of good road manners. Let us all loyally observe it and make the spirit of goodwill a keynote of our behaviour on the roads.—British Wireless.

His Majesty's Government are arranging to enter into discussions of status "On both sides being maintained in meantime in the hope that it will be possible to arrive at a satisfactory arrangement for the future. Col. Colville anticipates that discussions would begin at an early date."—British Wireless.

GERMAN CYCLIST HERE

May Ride To Nanking

A young German, arrived in Hongkong yesterday, in the course of a round-the-world trip on a push bicycle. He aims to ride from Hongkong to Nanking via Canton and Hankow, thence on to Korea and Japan, and possibly make the passage to America and continue his adventurous trip through the United States.

Leaving Dresden in September 1932, Mr. Rietig made his way to Calcutta via Vienna, Athens, Constantinople, Tehran, Kabul and Delhi.

He covered 12,000 miles to accomplish this and enjoyed a number of interesting and unusual experiences. He had to make his way from Calcutta to Rangoon, by boat, and since then he has crossed Siam, where he found the roads very bad indeed, and up the coast of Indo-China to Haiphong.

Lack of passport facilities prevented him from continuing his way into China through Yunnan, and he had to take steamer from Haiphong to Hongkong.

His objective is to see the world so that he can obtain material to write a book. He expects to continue his trip in a few days' time.

THE MURDER OF JUDGE PRINCE

Arrest Of Bookmakers Clears Mystery

Paris, Mar. 29. The mystery which has hitherto shrouded the death of Judge Prince promises to be dissipated after the arrest this morning of three bookmakers, Delussats, Venture and Spirito, on a charge of complicity in murder and robbery.

Delussats and Venture were examined all night long by the Surete-General. Spirito was examined by the Marseilles Surete, after which he was arrested at the request of the Public Prosecutor and examining magistrate who arrived from the scene of the murder at Dijon upon the receipt of new evidence.—Reuter.

The body of Prince, who was a judge in Paris and the chief witness against those involved in the Stavisky scandal, was found on the railway line at Dijon on February 22. Since then there has been a hunt for the murderers, the French Criminal Police holding the view that the body was placed there after being murdered.

WHAT THE 'QUAKE HAS DONE

East Buzzing With Strange Beliefs

No attempts to climb or to fly over Mount Everest will be permitted for at least eighteen years. Probably no other expedition will be allowed to attempt the conquest of the world's highest mountain in our generation.

The ban is the consequence of two tragedies that have occurred since members of the Houston Everest expedition flew over the mountain. These tragedies were: (1) The death of the Dalai Lama of Tibet.

(2) The earthquake in Nepal. Tibet and Nepal lie on the north and south slopes of the mountain. People in these countries attribute the disasters to the anger of the gods at their privacy being disturbed by presumptuous men.

Temples "Spared By Gods". It is believed by the superstitious that Everest (officially 29,002 feet high) is now 1,000 feet higher than it was before the earthquake, having been lifted by the gods for their future protection.

The whole construction of the Himalayas is believed to have been affected by the earthquake. One other strange fact is also being discussed with amazement throughout the East.

In spite of the enormous damage done in Nepal, not a single one of the 3,000 temples in the country was destroyed or even cracked.

RECOGNITION OF DE VALERA

Now Confirmed By Washington

Washington, Mar. 29. It is now revealed that Mr. McDowell the new American Minister to Dublin, did present his credentials to President Eamon De Valera instead of to the Governor General.

Mr. McDowell told the American State Department that he did it at the request of the Free State Government, who informed the American Legation that the matter was discussed between the Irish and the British authorities and agreed to by His Majesty King George.

A Dublin message states that this report is confirmed there. The Dublin message states that arrangements were made between the British and Irish Free State Governments some months ago.

In future, all representatives of foreign Governments will present their credentials to Mr. De Valera, as Foreign Minister, instead of to the Governor General.—Reuter.

THE INSULL MYSTERY

Constantinople, March 28. The mystery enshrouding the movements of the American financier, Samuel Insull, who till now was believed to be on his way through the Suez Canal, seems about to clear up. The Greek steamer, "Malotis," on which Insull is travelling, entered Dardanelles on Wednesday. The Turkish authorities sent officials on board to make sure that Insull was really on board. The financier was informed that he must not leave the ship while passing Dardanelles and several police officers remained to see that he made no attempt to escape. The vessel was not allowed to berth at Constantinople. Insull's objective seems to be Roumania.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ENTIRE U.S. STEEL INDUSTRY

May Join Wage Increase Movement

Washington, March 29. The Republic Iron and Steel and the National Tube Companies yesterday announced a 10 per cent. increase in wages from April 1. It is generally believed that the United States Steel Corporation will follow suit and thus confirm the reports that the entire American steel industry will join in the wage-raising movement.—Reuter.

Rises of 10 per cent. were announced on Tuesday by the Laughlin Steel Company and the National Steel Company.

The distinguishing feature of the Association Cup-ties was the success of the visitors, for Aston Villa, Portsmouth, and Leicester City won on the grounds of their opponents. Manchester City alone proved the football proverb that the right to play at home is equal to a goal. Arsenal also got a goal. This did not suffice, but at least this may be said of the Highbury club, that they alone of the defeated were able to score. That may be small consolation, but Arsenal could not seriously believe that they were immune from a reverse in a Cup-tie at their headquarters.

Of course, all teams hope to win, but that is not a reason why the coming victory should be proclaimed in advance by the aid of photographers, seeking a stunt illustration.

Aston Villa lay low, and as Uncle Remus would phrase the situation, said nothing. They went quietly to London, and served Arsenal in the same way as they did Tottenham Hotspur last month. Twice Villa have been called to the Metropolis to meet two of the strongest sides in the country, and twice they have triumphed. Aston Villa's history in Cup conflict is full of wonder, but capital will be printed in Aston Villa type when the annals of the Aston Club are next printed. Arsenal cannot expect to win for ever if their previous loss of a Cup-tie "at home" was so long ago as January, 1933, when Liverpool won in hollow style.

Surely Arsenal could not have been over-confident, because no one can ever tell what the Villa will do on such an occasion. This was the first win of Aston Villa in a Tie at Highbury, although they have played such a match on three occasions. Their victory was due to superb forward manoeuvres, crowned by the artistry of David Astley, who has in three ties this year obtained seven goals, or one more than he counted in his fifteen League matches last season. Generally he has been playing exceedingly well as an inside forward, but it is doubtful whether he would have been placed at centre-forward in the Cup tournament if Waring had been available. It is not an exaggeration to say that Astley has taken his club into the semi-final round for the thirteenth time. Whoever may win the trophy, it is evident that this great Birmingham organisation, six times winners of Final Tie, will have to be reckoned with.

The game was good to see, for the pace was thrilling, the ball was generally made to do the work by far-flung passes, and, above all, the rivals showed clean, clever football, and for quite a long time one side was as strong as the other. Once the Villa scored the point had the effect of an electric spark on highly inflammable material. The men showed how skilful they could be, and they seemed to put forth every resource within them. The first goal on such an occasion is a mighty argument as well as a stimulus. The Villa counted again, and all that Arsenal could do in a tremendous effort was to score once through the agency of the latest comer into the team. Some may think that Aston Villa were rather fortunate, but their first goal was a gem, and showed that even in these days a real footballer like Astley is equal to the task of scoring even if there be three-backs to contend with.

As soon as the match began it was obvious that the wing raiders would play a big part, for a centre from Houghton was only headed just outside the goal. Beasley was persevering, and showed what command he has over the ball, and how plucky he is. Dunne was often given the ball, but he was no better in getting control than John Lambert used to be. He certainly did put in a drive which touched the top-side of the cross-bar. Once Beasley dribbled well and far. He took the ball right up to the goal area only to see his shot hit Morton, the goalkeeper, on the body.

If the Arsenal had a plan of attack, so had the Villa. For the visitors Cunliffe, on the left, was apt in swinging the point of attack. Houghton at outside-right was just as useful as he was formerly at outside-left. He gathered one of Cunliffe's crosses, and drove in a good ball off the ground. This was stopped by Moss, who, however, was kept on tenterhooks by the visiting forwards. In the thirty-seventh minute Arsenal's goal was captured. Astley was looking towards his own goal when Dix made an exact pass to his feet. Although Roberts was high, Astley turned round and swept the ball from his right foot to his left and instantly made a swift ground shot that crossed the goal line near the right post. Moss threw himself at the ball, but was late.

Again Bastin worked right between the tiered ranks of his foes and again Morton foiled him in the end. Perhaps he was lucky, but he had advanced to meet his man. Later Morton scooped away with his hand a dangerous centre from Beasley. The match seemed open until a few seconds before the interval when the Villa scored a second time. Astley, who had veered to his right, accepted another long pass. Of course he was tackled, but his touch and tenacity prevailed. His footwork was splendid, and seeing Houghton to his left about a dozen yards from goal he gave him the ball. Always a judicious marksman, Houghton lobbed the ball towards goal.

There was a following wind and the ball struck an Arsenal player and entered the net over the head of Moss. Maybe Arsenal did not deserve to be two goals in arrears, but they were manifestly in difficulties although they strove with might and main in the second half. Manifestly Arsenal were not satisfied with their vanguard, for Dougall, who had shown ability in flashes, was moved to outside left, Bastin taking the inside position. David Jack tried hard at centre forward when Dunne was moved to inside right. This rearrangement in the midst of the struggle was ominous. Beasley continued to play well, but as a rule the Arsenal forwards were not in good positions. Still they got a goal, for after Dunne, again in the centre, had hit the post, Dougall, who had wandered towards the centre of the field, fastened on to the ball, beat two adversaries, and scored with a left-foot drive, always going away from Morton's right. This infused life into the last twenty minutes, but although Arsenal most stoutly assailed the Villa goal, the defence was able to withstand a series of assaults, even if Cunliffe did raise the siege, and very nearly beat Moss a third time. An entrancing match finished with Arsenal still attacking, but they met their master. The whole of the Villa forwards played well, but Astley and Cunliffe stood out boldly.

The Villa wing half-backs, Wood and Kingdon, were workers, and no flaw could be seen with the defence. Moss played a fine game at right back, for he was face to face with Cunliffe. Beasley and Bastin were by far the most prominent of the Arsenal vanguard. The Villa won by their open play, long passing, and superior work in front of goal.

BIRMINGHAM AND ABERDEEN WIN

London, Mar. 29.
Birmingham secured two badly needed points yesterday when they beat Leicester City by three clear goals in their home fixture in the English Football League.

Birmingham are now fifth from the foot of the table and by no means clear of the relegation line while Leicester, with a game in hand, have the same number of points.

In the Scottish League, Queen's Park, the famous amateur club, were decisively beaten at home by Aberdeen, who scored 5 goals to their opponents' one.

Aberdeen's win places them third in the table to Rangers and Motherwell, while the amateurs are seventh from the foot of the table, though in no danger of relegation.

FINAL INTERPORT HOCKEY TRIAL

Good Display Seen

An excellent game of hockey was witnessed on the Marina ground yesterday evening when the Probable Interport hockey eleven defeated the Possibles by 3 goals to 1 in a fast encounter.

The Probables were the better team in the opening half when they had most of the play, Currey Eaden and Donald being conspicuous, while Garthwaite and Lal Singh formed a formidable left wing partnership.

The intermediate line comprising W. A. Reed, H. J. D. Lowe and E. V. Reed were very good and completely overshadowed their opponents with the exception of Lt. Comdr. Hill who played a better game than E. V. Reed and would probably fill the left half position to advantage.

Wong was the better of the two keepers and showed excellent judgment. It was no fault of his that Currey passed him twice for both goals were impossible to stop. Hollingsworth used his pads to advantage but kicked wildly, often glancing at the ball which at times came dangerously near to entering the net.

Rodrigues was the pick of the four backs, his anticipation breaking up many a dangerous move by the opposing forwards. Roger was not far behind and on yesterday's display should certainly fill one of the back positions.

Hill was the pick of the Possibles halves and completely outshone E. V. Reed at left half. His tackling and feeding was excellent throughout while he had Donald in hand during most part of the game.

Bartlett and Senlor were the pick of the Possibles' forwards, the former working very hard but receiving very little support. Senlor performed likewise but again was lacking in support otherwise several goals might have resulted from his dashingly display.

Currey opened the scoring in the first half from a partial clearance from F. Singh, after Eaden had failed to turn the ball into the net in the preceding minute.

Soon after a fine forward movement by Probables saw Currey net his second goal which he scooped up into the net as he was tackled by P. Singh and Barros.

Possibles Improve
In the second half the Possibles played a better game and as a result of better understanding between the halves and forwards, the Probables goal underwent several attacks.

Soon after the resumption Garthwaite put the Probables three goals ahead with a snap goal. Then Bartlett reduced the deficit when the Possibles were awarded a corner, hitting past Wong who was unslighted.

Mr. A. A. Dand and Lt. Comdr. Leigh R.N. refereed.
Probables:—Hollingsworth (Lincolns); Rodrigues (Recreio) and J. Rodger (Club); W. A. Reed (Club); H. J. D. Lowe (Club) and

E. V. Reed (Club); Lt. Donald (Navy); Lt. Eaden (Navy); Lt. Currey (Navy); Lt. Garthwaite (Artillery) and Lal Singh (Punjabis).
Possibles:—R. H. Wong (St. Andrew's); P. Singh (Radio) and Lt. Comdr. Hill (Navy); N. A. E. Mackay (St. Andrew's); Senlor (Army); Awtar Singh (Radio); Lt. Bartlett (Navy) and Lt. Hocquard (Lincolns).

St. Andrew's Visit To Macao

The following will represent the St. Andrew's Hockey Club against Macao on Easter Monday at Macao: R. H. Wong; F. H. Broadbridge and E. H. P. White; E. MacNider, A. E. P. Guest and A. B. Hamson; G. A. White, A. S. Bliss, N. A. E. Mackay, S. MacNider and E. F. Fincher.

The team will leave Hong Kong at 9 o'clock on Monday morning by the s.s. Sul Tai and return by the same vessel at 4 p.m., the game starting at 1.30 p.m.

Ladies Team Selected For "Rest"

The final Ladies Hockey trial to select the Rest's team to meet the champions of the Caer Clark Cup (The Hong Kong Ladies Hockey Club) was held yesterday evening at King's Park, when a Probables' side met a Possibles' side in a very scrappy encounter.

After the game the following, with the exception of the goal-keeper who is yet to be selected, were chosen to meet the Hong Kong Ladies on the Hong Kong Football Club ground, at 3 p.m. on April 11.

K. Walker (C.B.A.) and M. Basto (Recreio); L. Woolley (St. Andrew's); M. Beavis (C.B.A.) and M. Bryson (C.B.A.); H. Knill (C.B. School); M. Smith (C.B.A.); M. Woolley (St. Andrew's); F. Gittens (St. Andrew's); and O. Brown (Y.M.C.A. Ladies).

INTER VARSITY GOLF

Oxford Win By Two Matches

London, March 29.
Oxford University won the Inter-Varsity Golf encounter by 24 matches to 64 yesterday at Formby.

Commencing the ten singles matches with a lead of 3 matches to 2 as the result of the four-somes matches, the Dark Blues won the singles, decided over 36 holes by 5 matches to 4, one match being halved—Reuter.
Last year Cambridge won the foursomes by 3 matches to 2, and the singles by 7 matches to 1.

CARPENTIER AS MANAGER

Georges Capentier, the former French heavy-weight champion, who has taken over the training and managing affairs of his old trainer, Francois Descamps experienced ill-luck in his opening attempt in Paris as a manager.

Maurice Grisselle, another former French heavy-weight champion, who is from his "stable", was easily beaten by Obie Walker, being forced to abandon the bout in the eighth round.

Carpentier signed his manager's licence at the Salle Wagram before the evening's boxing began. He was given a great ovation when later he stepped into the ring as Grisselle's manager.

As the crowd in the packed hall rose to their feet to cheer Carpentier, they doubtless regretted that their idol was not there to box So did Carpentier.

"I only wish I was boxing against Obie Walker tonight," he said, "remember the first time I fought as an amateur in this same ring in 1907, Descamps and I were then already great friends," he said.

"I have now replaced dear old Francois for old times sake. It was my first thought to help those who were dear to him, and although I am a busy man, I shall say a La Muerche until things are all in order," concluded Carpentier.

Thus, instead of making his projected "come-back" Carpentier will now content himself with shaping others, just as he himself was modelled by the man, he has replaced.

EASTER RACE MEETING

leg of the "Doubles" after spotting the first leg. Of the ponies entered I like Glad Eyes the best and he will be very prominent. Tum-mel is not bad and Mortmain too may run well. Zero if started, should be among the vanguard at the finish. The race is for novice jockeys and this should make the puzzle-even more difficult.

ANOTHER SPRINT

There are only eight ponies in the St. Kilda Handicap "B" Class. If Princess Angelina will not play any tricks, she should win comfortably, but there is always the fear that he will not behave on the race track. Just That and The Goose will make a good race of it this time and Atlas will not be far behind whatever happens.

ANOTHER SUBS RACE

The tenth race is for subs which have won less than $200 in stakes and since Utopian has won at Macao he will not go to the post. In his absence, I like the chances of St. Ives and Dare Devil and the latter's running at Macao lead me to think that he will probably win. Young Hero is a good long shot here.

THE LAST RACE

King's Parade has top weight here at 161 pounds, but this will not stop punters from making him favourite; I am afraid. His chances, however, are none too good, especially as Partnership, National Day, King Salmon, Iron Grey, Heltter Skelter and Gay But-terly are in good shape. I think Partnership will get very near in this race and National Day too, appeals as a likely winner. Heltter Skelter's success in the Royal Navy Cup will earn for him many supporters and he may run into a place.

("Faust"—Gounod)—Peter Dawson (Bass-Bartone).

INTERNATIONAL SOCCER

Final For Monday

The final of the Sunday Herald International Charity Cup football contest will be decided on Monday afternoon on the Club ground when Wales meet China, the holders.

So far China have come through with flying colours but in Wales they are quite likely to meet the victorious South Wales Borderers' team who have twice defeated South China, League champions and former Senior Shield holders, who have this year surprisingly been defeated on several occasions.

The following will represent Wales:—Smith, Mullane (Captain) and Morrison, Underwood, Podmore and Davies; Matthias, Hazlewood, Fortey, Jones and Duncan.
China will probably be represented by Wong Wing, Li Tin Sang and Lau Mau; Leung in Chan, Leung Wing Chai and Lee Kwok Wai; Young Shui Yick, Fung King Cheong, Pau Ka Ping, Tam Kong Pak and Tay Quee Liang.
